Now restricted to purchase in Tennessee for 21+ by SB0378/ HB0403 in 2023

01

Both hemp and marijuana plants are the same species. The main difference lies in how much of a certain cannabinoid each contains.

The term “hemp” is used to mean cannabis that contains 0.3 percent or less THC content by dry weight.

04

National Poison Control received 2,362 exposure cases of delta-8 THC products between January 2021 and February 2022: 70% required health care facility evaluation.

02

Recent findings reveal that hemp-derived THC products often feature inaccurate labels, exceeding legal THC limits in adult-use states, jeopardizing consumer safety and raising concerns about informed consent.
